

Baltimore Beer Week announces the 2018 Class of inductees to the Baltimore Beer Legends Hall of Fame

Baltimore, MD (August 2018) – Baltimore Beer Week announced today that it will kick-off this year with the annual Baltimore Beer Legends Hall of Fame luncheon on Friday October 12th from 11:30am – 1:30pm to be held at the Mt Washington Tavern.

This year's 2018 inductees are such an exciting array of choices... There is Rob Kasper author of Baltimore Beer: A Satisfying History of Charm City Brewing who spent 33 years as a feature writer for the Baltimore Sun, winning numerous awards while penning a nationally syndicated column associated with the Baltimore area's beer and brewing industry. Max's Taphouse is being inducted as the legendary beer emporium it's become since converting to a craft beer bar in 1995. Then there are two "things" being inducted this year that absolutely set Baltimore apart – the "experience" of eating crabs and beer... and along with that theme the iconic National Bohemian brand "Natty Boh" is taking its rightful place in the pantheon of Baltimore Beer lore.

"The Baltimore Beer Legends Hall of Fame is dedicated to annually inducting individuals, institutions and icons based on the outstanding contribution to the beer industry in Baltimore and the surrounding Chesapeake region" said Joe Gold founder and organizing committee chair of Baltimore Beer Week and the Baltimore Beer Legends Hall of Fame.

The mission of the Baltimore Beer Legends Hall of Fame is to recognize and honor the history, iconic individuals, and institutions both past and present, who by their innovation, achievement, influence and/or contribution, and by the example of their lives, personify the great contribution that beer has made to our way of life in the "Land of Pleasant Living".
